lee brennen... creating a brand.

Every now and then a new talent emerges with an obvious passion for his craft.

In a society of disposable commodities it is refreshing to see a young craftsman with a unique blend of creative style and respect for tradition. With the use of recycled hardwood from old buildings and derelict barns, canvases, oils and spray cans, Lee Brennan is capturing this in his furniture and art.

Growing up on a farm in the hinterland of Noosa, Lee has spent his formative years surrounded by the life he portrays. With a family passionate about the arts it has been a natural progression to follow the path he has chosen.

In Lee's words: "As humans we seem to possess an unquenchable hunger to progress for better or worse. With a desire to calm the machine that drives us I hope my use of recycled articles will offer, however minimal, a push in the right direction. Inspired by the honesty of natural materials and the layers of many landscapes framed in my mind."

A skilled craftsman, Lee has a dual apprenticeship in building and joinery but since returning home from overseas his true talent is emerging.

The major influences on his style have emerged from his extensive travels throughout Europe, Canada and the United States over the past two years, particularly the Great South West and the mountain regions.

*Lee Brennens furniture and artwork are presently available at Noosa Classics, Gibson Road Noosaville.
